San Clemente – September 30, 2008 – KCOMM, a marketing communications firm specializing in public relations, public affairs, Internet marketing, strategic relationships and special events, is celebrating its 10-year anniversary this fall.

In the decade since its founding, the firm has grown exponentially to attain annual revenues of several million dollars. KCOMM began in 1998 as a web development and Internet marketing consultancy with a focus on technology industry clients. The company quickly evolved into a full-service resource with a unique blend of capabilities and a broad client roster.

With headquarters in San Clemente, CA, the agency recently established several new business centers in Dallas, New York, Dubai, Montreal, London, Argentina and Delhi. KCOMM has developed and orchestrated strategic campaigns for over 700 clients including many of the most prominent companies in Orange County, Los Angeles, Silicon Valley, Dallas, New York and the United Arab Emirates ranging from innovative start-ups to New York Stock Exchange and Nasdaq listed companies such as Sony, T-Mobile, PR Newswire, HP, University of Phoenix and Toshiba.

“In a climate where public relations and marketing firms come and go, KCOMM stands on solid ground,” said Sinan Kanatsiz, Chairman and CEO. “We are able to achieve this position by constantly building long-term relationships within the industries we serve. These relationships coupled by our collaborative work force, positions us for long term success.”

The company has brought onboard a number of talented individuals both in Orange County and abroad in order to continue its growth while offering clients additional services. The effectiveness of KCOMM's strategy has become widely recognized with a client base that now extends well beyond the technology sector to include global news distribution, online education, telecommunications, social media, elected officials, and government agencies.
